The Society's objects are the support, development, improvement and promotion of to work in conjunction with the Chaplains to support and encourage Catholic students in their Christian vocation by promoting their personal, intellectual and spiritual development, social interaction, and apostolic witness within the broad context of their university experience. It also seeks to establish and maintain links with other Catholic organisations within the University of Oxford or outside of the University of Oxford but within Oxford. It also seeks to establish and maintain links with other religious groups within the University. The income and property of the Society shall be applied solely to those objects. The address of the Society shall be:
The Newman Society: Oxford University Catholic Society
The Old Palace
Rose Place
St Aldate's
OXFORD
OX1 1RD

The history of the society is as follows:

- (i) The Newman Society was founded in 1878 as a society for the Catholic Student members of the University of Oxford. Its name was adopted in honour of Blessed John Henry Cardinal Newman with his consent. The name provides a connexion of living tradition between Catholic students of the University and Blessed John Henry and is one of the treasures of Catholic Oxford. In 2009, the St Thomas More Lectures were founded by the Newman Society to bring persons of international eminence to lecture in Oxford on subjects of Catholic interest. The inaugural lecture was given by His Eminence George Cardinal Pell, Archbishop of Sydney.
- (ii) At the beginning of Trinity Term 1990, the Roman Catholic Chaplains to the University of Oxford invited those students currently serving as Chaplaincy representatives in their colleges and those students representing the various groups attached to the Chaplaincy to discuss with them the setting up a further means of promoting the well-being and apostolate of the Catholic student body throughout the University. As a result, the University Catholic Society was brought into being.
- (iii) At a Meeting of the Committee held at the Old Palace, the following resolution was passed: With provision for future amendments as deemed necessary, this Constitution is formally approved by the Committee as binding upon the Society and its members, and is deposited with the Chaplains in Hilary Term 1991.
- (iv) On April 28th, 1993, the Vice-Chancellor's approval was secured for the Society to be known as the Oxford University Catholic Society. At a Meeting of the Full Committee held at the Old Palace on 15 October 1995 the Constitution was amended to take account of this and other changes from experience gained in the first five years of the Catholic Society's existence.

- (v) On November 11th, 1999, the University Catholic Chaplaincy Social Club became a legal entity in whose name the bar licence was held. At a meeting of the Full Committee held at the Catholic Chaplaincy on January 16, 2000, the University Catholic Chaplaincy Social Club was included within the Constitution of the Oxford University Catholic Society, and relevant changes were made to the Oxford University Catholic Society's Constitution. On November 9th, 2012, as part of the revisions to this Constitution following the vote of Union with the Newman Society a vote was taken to end the existence of the defunct University Catholic Chaplaincy Social Club.
- (vi) In 2012, the Newman Society and the Oxford University Catholic Society agreed to join together as a single society for Catholic members of the University giving witness in the University to the unity and catholicity of the Church to preserve the name of the Newman Society and to make provision for the continuation of the St Thomas More Lectures by merging to create one Society to be known as "The Newman Society: Oxford University Catholic Society".

10-BY-LAWS OF THE SOCIETY

---

10.1-MEMBERSHIP OF THE SOCIETY

- A. All students requesting entrance into the Society by power of section 4 shall be recognized as Full Members (or, simply, "Members"). All persons admitted into the Society by means of section 5 shall be eligible for membership as Associate Members, only. However, any person shall not be admitted if the Chaplains or Committee should object to their admission within a reasonable time of the expression of the desire to be admitted to membership. All such persons as are admitted will be entitled to all rights and privileges accorded to the status of their membership in this Constitution. A person may resign membership in the Society by tendering his or her resignation in writing to the Committee, and such resignation is effective upon receipt. The Committee may remove a person from membership - for good reason - with the approval of the Chaplains. The expelled member shall have recourse to the Senior Member if desiring to appeal against such a removal of membership.

- B. Attendance at events organised by the Society and participation in the activities of any of the Chaplaincy groups affiliated to the Society is not confined to members of the Society. The Society welcomes all interested persons to join in its activities. This, however, does not apply to formal meetings or functions of the Society as described in sections governing the structure of the committee, and sections governing the meetings of the committee of this Constitution.
- C. All student groups officially attached to the Chaplaincy are automatically affiliated to the Society, and are entitled to all rights and privileges accorded to such groups in this Constitution. Individual members of such groups, however, may or may not have Full or Associate membership of the Society, and groups should respect the rules of the Society in this regard.

10.2–OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY

- A. The requirement of Full Membership does not, however preclude any Associate Member from standing for election to these three particular offices. Should any Associate Member run for any of the offices of President, Secretary, or Treasurer, and be elected, their assumption of office will depend upon the Proctors' approval. Election of Associate Members to any of the other offices does not need such approval.
- B. The Officers of the Society shall be the: the President; the Vice-President; the Secretary; the Treasurer; the Social Secretary; the Ecumenical Officer; the Publicity Officer; the Charities Officer; the St Thomas More Lectures Secretary; the Senior Member; the Group Representatives; the College Representatives; the Bar Manager(s) and other officers appointed from time to time by the Committee under the terms of below.
- C. The President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Social Secretary, Ecumenical Officer, Publicity Officer, the St Thomas More Lectures Secretary, Charities Officer, and Senior Member, shall be termed the Executive Officers of the Society and shall constitute the Committee. The members of the Committee shall be elected by the members of the Society annually, and shall be eligible for re-election. The members of the Society shall not appoint several individuals jointly to hold any of the offices, nor allow any individual to hold more than one office at a time. When electing other members of the Committee each year, the members of the Society shall also appoint a member of Congregation as the Senior Member, and he or she will then be a member of the Committee ex officio. The roles of the members of the Committee are as follows:

- (i) The President shall act as a representative of the Society at the direction of the Society or of the Committee; invite and act as a liaison with guest speakers for Society events; conduct urgent business of the Society in consultation with as many members of the Committee as are available if there is insufficient time to convene a meeting of the Committee or a General Meeting, but all such action shall be subject to ratification at the next meeting of the Committee or the next General Meeting; act as a liaison between the Society and the Chaplains; act as a liaison with other Catholic organisations in Oxford; oversee the operations of the Society; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (ii) The Vice-President shall assist the President in execution of the President's duties; act in lieu of the President in case of the President's absence or inability to act; undertake special projects at the direction of the Committee or a General Meeting; co-ordinate College activities in consultation with the College Representatives; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (iii) The Secretary shall prepare and circulate the agenda for Committee or General meetings in consultation with the members of the Committee; maintain permanent records, membership lists, and minutes of the Society; undertake the administrative and clerical duties of the Society; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (iv) The Treasurer shall maintain the accounts and monies of the Society; be responsible for the allocation of funds and payment of all bills, debts, and reimbursements; collect all accounts, fees, and monies of the Society; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (v) The Social Secretary shall organise community activities of the Society; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (vi) The Ecumenical Officer shall act as a liaison between the Society and other Christian organisations and religious organisations in the University; organise community activities between the Society and these organisations; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (vii) The Publicity Officer shall act as a liaison between the Society and the media; maintain the social media and webpages associated with the Society and its events; prepare any necessary advertisements for the Society and its events; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (viii) The Charities Officer shall act as a liaison between the Society and Catholic charities in Oxford; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
  - (ix) The St Thomas More Lectures Secretary shall be responsible for the duties outlined in Section 8; and carry out any other duties assigned by the Society or the Committee.
- D. The President, Treasurer and Secretary may not hold office beyond the Michaelmas term of the final year of their course of study. Should a member of the Society apply for admission to a further course of study, which would extend their time at the University beyond the terminal year of their current course, such a person may stand for election and accept office, but, should their application be denied, they must resign their office, immediately.

- E. The Group Representatives shall be the persons currently leading the various chaplaincy groups affiliated to the Society, or persons delegated by them from within these groups. They shall serve for a period of time determined by the particular group. In order to hold office they must be either Full or Associate Members of the Society.
- F. The College Representatives shall act as liaisons between the Society, Chaplains, their respective College, and other College Representatives, in order to help fulfil the aims of the Society for the students of their respective College. They shall be those persons currently serving as Chaplaincy Representatives in their respective Colleges or Associated Institutions, or persons delegated by them. They shall serve for as long as they hold the position of Chaplaincy Representative. In order to hold office they must be either Full or Associate Members of the Society.
- G. The Committee may appoint Bar Manager(s) as well as a number of additional officers to portfolios which the Committee shall determine. Such appointed officers must be Full or Associate Members of the Society.
- H. Any Roman Catholic member of the University Congregation is eligible to serve as Senior Member of the Society. The chosen Senior Member should be closely affiliated with the operations of the Chaplaincy. The choice of the Senior Member is to be left to the Committee, by standard vote, according to the forms of the committee meeting. Should the Chaplains be predominantly members of one religious institute, it is suggested that the local superior be invited to serve as Senior Member, provided that this person be a member of Congregation. The Senior Member shall serve for a term of one academic year, to begin each Michaelmas term, without any limit to the number of terms they may hold the office.
- I. If some Executive Officer of the Committee relinquishes his or her post during their term of office, then a replacement may be co-opted by the Committee immediately. A by-election may be called to coincide with the next election called according to bylaws governing election of officers (unless that clause dictates that an autumnal election to that post shall be held in any case, which takes priority).

11–ELECTION OF OFFICERS

- A. The election procedure provides for the election to the Executive Offices of the Society. Only Full and Associate Members of the Society are eligible to participate in any way in the election process.
- B. Elections to the following offices of the Committee, i.e. those of President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Social Secretary, Ecumenical Officer, Publicity Officer, St Thomas More Lectures Secretary, and Charities Officer, shall ordinarily take place annually during the seventh week of Michaelmas term during a General Meeting.

- C. In unusual circumstances, the Committee may vary the times of the Elections specified above, provided the criteria for eligibility is satisfied.
- D. The Committee shall appoint a Returning Officer (ordinarily one of its number) for each set of elections. The Returning Officer shall be responsible for the organisation and fair conduct of the elections.
- E. Notification of elections shall be published in the Chaplaincy's weekly bulletin for the fifth week of the term in which elections are to take place.
- F. Nominations, with proposer and seconder, shall be submitted to the Returning Officer or the President no later than 11 PM on the Wednesday of Sixth Week, that is, the week preceding the week in which the elections are to be held. Each nomination shall be accompanied by a manifesto of not more than one hundred and fifty words (save that manifestos for the post of President or Vice-President may be longer, but not exceeding two hundred and fifty words), and a photograph of the nominee. These shall be posted up in a suitable place at the Chaplaincy from 6 PM on Friday of Sixth Week until the time of the elections.
- G. The elections shall take place after hustings on the day appointed. The names of the successful candidates shall be posted in the same place in the Chaplaincy as the manifestos were displayed for one week following the day of the election.
- H. The election for each post shall be conducted by the method of Single Transferable Vote. A candidate may stand for up to two posts (or three including President), and shall indicate to the Returning Officer which is his or her preferred position. If elected to both positions stood for, a candidate's votes will be transferred to the remaining candidates for the second-choice post. Should it not be possible to separate two or more candidates, then the President shall have a casting vote.
- I. If only one candidate submits him/herself for election to a given post then that candidate shall be returned unopposed without need for a vote. If some Executive Officer whose term of office is not due to conclude stands for election to some other office of the committee at a given election, then a by-election (which he/she may contest) must be held for the post which he/she currently holds.
- J. The officers of the Committee shall ordinarily hold office until the end of Michaelmas term. Following their election, the officers-elect of the Committee shall attend meetings of the Committee during the rest of Michaelmas term. The term of office of the incoming Committee shall ordinarily commence at the beginning of Hilary term.
- K. No member of the existing Committee shall propose or second any candidate.
- L. No candidate shall propose or second another candidate.
- M. The Returning Officer shall place a mark next to the name of each member of the Society on the Society's membership list at the time that this member is given a ballot paper.
